From the Pastor

It Has Been Amazing!

There has been a great response in inviting me to dinner, as well as to small group gatherings and visits. I love every minute of it! I am praying that the momentum continues as I am getting to know more and more of our Church family. I love to be part of every little ministry and group—whether that is a breakfast group, or a card game group, or a prayer group. I love every opportunity to get to know my flock. Do not think that I am too busy or my days are booked up. I will find a way to accommodate your request.

Some of you have asked me if I have any allergies and what foods I do not eat. I try to restrict my intake of red meat and dairy products for health reasons, but I am not allergic to them. If I do eat those, it means that I just have to be on the treadmill a little longer. Among fruits, I eat all of them except strawberries and peaches. I like them, but they do not like me. I am really not a fussy eater.

Some others have asked me about my hobbies and interests. I love hiking, fishing, skiing, and swimming. I am considering golf as well. At least, I'd like to learn to hit the ball straight and be able to retrieve it without having to search the bushes—only to return empty handed.

I believe that small groups are important for strengthening our parish community. They are not meant to isolate us from one another but, rather, to strengthen the roots of our Church community by getting to know its members. I would love to see everyone as part of a ministry or group in the Church.

—Father Jose

A Car Accident—Then Came Success

By Dean Pennicott

HAVE YOU EVER wondered how some of the worst things that happen in your life turn out to be some of the best experiences you've ever had? Well, this is a story about one such experience that really changed a fellow's life.

For years, he had difficulty saving to buy a house because something would always occur and consume more money than he had expected to spend. Despite his efforts, he simply could not go long before spending the extra cash that he had saved.

Then one day a car accident badly damaged the car his wife was driving. Their mechanic estimated the cost of repairs at $5,000. Unfortunately, they were presently in a financial bind, and so the car would have to wait. After contemplating the situation, he realized that they needed a solution to their financial problems.

To remedy the situation, he worked long and hard for weeks, saving and managing his money in a way he had never done previously. And in a few months, he had saved enough funds to have his wife's car repaired.

Once the car was repaired, he discussed with his wife how quickly they had put aside the money they needed. During their discussion, his wife encouraged him to open a second account so they could continue to put away the same amount of money that they were saving every week for the car repair. This money would go toward the house they had always wanted to purchase. He realized then that if he could save thousands of dollars in a few months, he could eventually save enough to buy a house. For many years they had both wanted to buy their dream house but could not seem to come up with the down payment. But in a little over a year, he had saved $20,000 and made a down payment. He had done something in a short while that he had failed to accomplish in his previous attempts to properly handle his finances.

Consequently, his experiences gave him a different feeling about money. He and his wife have continued to maintain their second account. This time they have decided to start saving for their retirement, putting away just a little less every week than they did for their house.

One man embraced a new set of traits because he had a goal that was imperative for him to achieve—he made a plan to achieve it and followed through. The experience of a single misfortune taught him a valuable lesson and challenged him to reprogram his saving and spending habits. In the process, he also changed his family's life. Now they are enjoying the material benefits along with a sense of accomplishment and pride.

The value of making the most of our experiences is that they teach us lessons about life—about failures, successes, and everything in between. In the midst of our challenges, always remember that success often comes in disguise.

—Prayerful wishes, Fr. Joseph

I was a stranger and you welcomed me.

Matthew 25:35

Tiffany Miller and her five children, from a year old to 15 years old, came to this country three months ago, fleeing the violence in the Bahamas after the kids lost their dad, and she lost her ex-husband and fiancé.

The family is working through an immigration attorney to get their legal status changed from “visitors” to “permanent residents.” Meanwhile, they URGENTLY need a place to stay. The kids also need help to get into St. Francis School in September.

If anyone can help in any way, please call me at the Parish Offices at: (541) 382-3631, or send me an email at: fjose@stfrancisbend.org.

It would be a great act of kindness in this Jubilee Year of Mercy!

Please keep this family in your prayers.

—Thank you, Father Jose
